PHASE 1 — CONCEPT & DESIGN

1. Business Concept

Folio — Books & Stationery

Business Type: Mobile Bookstore and Stationery Kiosk
Category: Education — Book / School Supply Store

Folio is a mobile bookstore and stationery kiosk designed to provide books, school supplies, and everyday writing materials in a compact and accessible space. The kiosk combines a small bookstore with a stationery shop, allowing customers to browse and purchase items such as notebooks, pens, pencils, folders, books, and other school or office supplies.

The design focuses on creating a warm, organized, and inviting bookstore atmosphere despite the limited space of a mobile kiosk. Wooden shelves are used to display books and stationery products, while warm lighting gives the interior a comfortable reading and shopping atmosphere.

The kiosk is designed with a dark green, natural wood, and warm cream color scheme. This gives Folio a classic bookstore appearance while keeping the design simple and suitable for a mobile business.

Main Products

The kiosk will display at least the following products:

- 📚 Novels and Fiction Books
- 📖 Non-Fiction Books
- 📕 Classic and Literary Books
- 📗 Educational and Reference Books
- 📘 Self-Help and Personal Development Books
- 📰 Magazines and Reading Materials
- 📔 Journals and Reading Notebooks
- 🔖 Bookmarks
- 📖 Book Covers

2. Store Name

FOLIO

The name Folio is derived from the Latin word folium, meaning “leaf” or “sheet of paper.” It has a strong connection to books, reading, publishing, and stationery.

In the publishing and literary world, a folio refers to a large-format book or a sheet of paper folded to form pages. It can also refer to a specific page or numbered sheet within a book.

The name Folio was chosen for the kiosk because it represents the simple and timeless nature of books and paper products. Its elegant and sophisticated sound also reflects the kiosk’s focus on books, stationery, and other reading and writing essentials.

Books & Stationery

Meaning/Concept:

The name Folio is associated with a sheet or collection of pages and is strongly connected to books, writing, and printed materials. It provides a simple and professional identity for a bookstore and stationery business.
